Guess Who And Anka Only Canadians To Appear At Montreal Fair

Montreal: Mayor Jean Drapeau's Man and His World reincarnation of Expo '67 will see only two Canadian performers at the exhibition's "Free Festival of the Stars". According to information available at the present time, the internationally successful Guess Who and Paul Anka of "Diana" fame will be the only Canadians appearing in the Festival of the Stars. Also appearing will be Bobbie Gentry, Brenda Lee, the Temptations, The Youngbloods, Wilson Pickett, Henry Mancini, Lou Rawls, Tony Bennett, Joe Tex, Booker T. and the MG's and Jose Feliciano. Some observers have indicated their disappointment in the partially federally financed son of Expo's ignoring of home-grown talent. Of the thirteen acts thus far announced, only the two mentioned are from the country financing the event, which by the way is free and involves only a flow of money outwards and mostly southwards.

New Lease For Life

Montreal's on again, off again Life, are on again, The Polydor group, who created a national noise with their single of "Hands Of The Clock", have created an overnight success bit with their edited version of "Strawberry Fields" from their album of last year. Allan Katz, ad chief for Polydor and the firm's label chief Frank Gould, believed they had the makings of a hit with the album cut which ran over 4 minutes. After an editing job the cut came out a very interesting 3:28 minutes in length. Katz took a copy of the single to Diane Jefford, librarian of CJMS, the flagship of the Mutuel Broadcasting group, and within minutes of her hearing the disc it was on the airwaves. Roger Scott of C-FOX dug the record and CKGM's Dave Marsden, in a telephone conversation with RPM, noted "a helluva thing" when questioned as to the likelihood of "Fields" becoming a breakout single for the bi-bi town.

Katz has pulled all stops in getting the disc into circulation across Canada and is preparing a massive follow-up promotion to tie-in with the release.

Mariposa Again Set For Island

Toronto: The 10th annual Mariposa Folk Festival is again to be held on Toronto Island, organizers of the festival have announced. Dates set are July 24, 25, 26. The festival is currently negotiating with performers in a wide variety of folk music traditions. The 10th fest will see many new faces in addition to those who have appeared before.

Festival director, Estelle Klein, in regard to the search for new talent, "We usually hear about promising performers in the Toronto area quite quickly, but we are anxious to hear tapes from performers in other parts of Canada." Performers and song writers in the folk vein interested in the Mariposa fest should send tapes to the festival's offices at 284 Avenue Road in Toronto. Following the artistic and financial success of last year's festival, the committee has been able to establish and maintain a permanent office and run a series of small workshop-concerts in Toronto.

Gavin Picks Jensen Disc

David Jensen's Quality lid "You're My Life" was recently listed as a "Personal Pick" in the respected Gavin Report. This 100% Canadian content single was produced by Greg Hambleton of Bluenose Music at Toronto's Sound Canada Studios. Canadian nation action on the release has boosted the single into the No. 88 berth of the RPM 100.

Quality's "Hot" Contest Hits With Bang

Response to the "Hot Air Contest" which Quality Records tied in with the release of "Brown Paper Bag" by The Syndicate of Sound" on Buddah, has apparently grabbed much national attention. On-air personalities are sending in their taped "Hot Air" performances and many have requested additional bags to be used for TV dance parties and attention grabbers at jock emceed gigs. Quality have instigated a second and much larger printing of the bags.

Buddah's Neil Bogart was impressed with this unique Canadian promotion which could lead to a similar U.S. effort.

Excitement begins for A&M in Canada

Alpert & Moss have contributed much to the history of the record business. With this issue of RPM they officially launch their Canadian operation — an historic move. Their unprecedented distribution setup may very well set a new trend for the Canadian disc market. They have indicated they are planning to assume the role of "good citizen". Their knowledge and experience can only add to Canada's domestic production scene as well as developing their other product for Canadian consumption. We thank A&M for their cooperation in making possible, this feature. —Walt Grealis

A&M - FROM THE BEGINNING

No matter how you look at it, Herb Alpert has to be the big push behind A&M. If he's done it in name only, through his recordings and personal and television appearances, it's not likely his partner Jerry Moss or any of the other top A&M administrators really mind taking a back seat. The joining together of Moss and Alpert in 1962 and the launching of A&M as a record company wasn't an overly monied adventure in business. Alpert, like most musicians, lived from day to day. He played weekend jobs with pickup bands, cut a couple of sound-tracking dates at several movie studios and even took on a job as a junior artists and repertoire man with a local record company and had a hand in the first and perhaps most famous record session by Jan and Dean. He was also gaining good experience as a songwriter and penned "Wonderful World" which became a sizeable hit for Sam Cooke and a major hit for Herman's Hermits.

Capital for Moss and Alpert's first session was around $200. Their studio was Alpert's garage. Equipment consisted of one tape recorder and they got a few sidemen in to give Alpert some backup assistance. Their first side "Twinkle Star" was later titled "The Lonely Bull" because of the Mexican flavouring. The flip was "Acapulco 1922". Knowing they needed something unique to break the Los Angeles market, they took their tape recorder south of the border to the Tijuana bullring and recorded a couple of hours of crowd noises including ole's and background effects. Armed with sound effects and a taped recording session, their next chore was to come up with a suitable handle for Alpert's backup group. Jerry Moss suggested Tijuana Brass, and it stuck. That was the beginning of Alpert, the Tijuana Brass and America's newest record company — A&M Records.

A&M - A SERIES OF ADVENTURES

There have been many successes in the entertainment field over the years — from Sinatra through to Presley and up to the Beatles. Some made it through luck, others through sheer guts, while others make it through manipulation. A very small percentage of disc success has been through dogged determination and a believable hard sell that what one has to offer is unique and, indeed, could become a trend setter.

The A&M story is many stories and a combination of the above. To say that A&M is Herb Alpert and Jerry Moss is but two of the stories. One must also recognize the people that Alpert and Moss have surrounded themselves with — that's the A&M story.

If you were to believe some of the writings on Jerry Moss, president of A&M, you might possibly become very suspect of his real intentions. When one has teamed up with an obvious "trend setter" like Herb Alpert and formed one of the strongest record companies in the world, it's obvious he's a good businessman. The business world would prefer to look up to Moss as a man who knows what a buck is — American exchange. A quick look at the profit and loss statement of A&M would allay any doubts as to Moss' veracity as a businessman. He has been described as "a lovable man, warm and honourable and generous", a rather flowery description that somehow doesn't fit a powerful figure like Moss. Nevertheless, some of the people who have sat down and rapped with Moss have come away with the feeling that he is an unbelievable business talent. It has also been said that he "has the precious gift of knowing everything about something and something about everything."

The direction A&M has been travelling and the new innovations introduced by the label has stunned the recording industry. But because of the success of some of these rather revolutionary ideas, the A&M formula has been copied by others in the industry, some successfully and others who have unfortunately bombed. Moss has been the designer of this strange new architecture of sound disc building which has been going on since Alpert and Moss discovered each other and became one in 1962.

Success single after giant album release and new discoveries finally led A&M to their new office complex in 1966. For a cool million bucks they purchased the old Charlie Chaplin studio on La Brea Avenue in Hollywood and proceeded to install a recording studio - now worth its weight in gold.

A&M'S FOUNDATION CREW

Like all good businesses, A&M's Alpert and Moss surrounded themselves with top administrative talent. One of their first acquisitions was Gil Friesen, who was appointed general manager of A&M. He had chalked up a good history of record company and management know-how, having been with Capitol and Kapp before taking on management chores of comedian Bill Dana and Jet Powers (now known as P.J.Proby). He was in London, England when Moss asked him to come with the firm. As General Manager of A&M (1964) his sole charges were two people - an artist (Alpert) and a business man (Moss).

Friesen's first major job was the putting together of Alpert's Tijuana Brass as a performing live stage unit. He then became steadily involved in the disc business, and is perhaps one of the few record executives who is identified by his quotes, of which there are many. On A&M's musical future he noted "Pop has gotten progressively better in the last six years, because the quality of music has increased. Today there are more exciting and meaningful directions in music. The new A&M "Sea Train" can't be labelled as a type of music. It's eclectic. When A&M began we were slowly beginning an exit from an era of jazz. Now we are entering an era of pop music which almost touches on the state of jazz the way it once was at its creative best."

A&M did explode into the pop world but unfortunately everything coming from the label was almost immediately tagged "Tijuana Sound". The bucks made on this sound was obviously put to good use and a breaking out of their restricted image. A&M began to prove there was a manana for "gringos", with the label, and a search for talent has resulted in a full roster of world renowned talent, stamped with the "Good Seal of A&M".

Another of Friesen's quotes makes good business sense and mirrors the overall policy of the A&M operation - "The secret of any successful record operation is its flexibility. A record firm can never be afraid of change or even replacement. Alpert knows that to progress and be a business success one cannot rest on the laurels of today - tomorrow."

Gil Friesen has recently been appointed Vice President Director of Administration and Creative Services. In making the announcement of Friesen's appointment, Jerry Moss paid the following tribute to Friesen: "Gil Friesen has been with A&M since November, 1964, when he came to A&M as General Manager. He is also currently Vice President of Tijuana Brass Enterprises and was largely responsible for the planning and staging of the personal appearance tours which have contributed greatly to the success of Alpert and the Tijuana Brass."

Other members of A&M's foundation crew are: Chuck Kaye, who joined the firm in July of 1966 as General Manager of the label's publishing companies - Irving Music Inc. and Almo Music Corp. Kaye is now Vice President, Director of Publishing and Record Product.

Bob Fead joined A&M in January of 1966 as Sales Manager, shortly moving up to General Manager. Now as Director of Distribution he assumes responsibility of company sales, promotion, advertising, and to coordinate the activities of special projects' men in the field.

A&M'S INTERNATIONAL GENIUS - DAVE HUBERT

One of the reasons A&M has become such a powerhouse on the international scene is due the efforts of their International

DAVE HUBERT

Director, Dave Hubert. He joined A&M in 1965 and took charge of publishing. He hadn't done too bad on his own hook, as bossman of his own Horizon Records and Davon Music. The latter was sold to A&M when he joined their ranks. During his Horizon years he found and signed a couple of unknown artists who have become giants in the disc world. One was Mason Williams and the other Rod McKuen. No doubt some of these original masters will become a part of A&M in the months to come.

Hubert was appointed to his present post in 1966 and immediately made plans for A&M's entry into the international market. He opened the English operation in the summer of 1969 after scouting the market thoroughly. He was instrumental in bowing the Canadian operation in February of this year. With their current release of European hits batting 1000, it's expected there'll be a major concentration on artists and songwriters from Spain, Italy, Germany, the UK and others, not to mention Canada, which is now shaping up to being a perfect sounding board for the U.S. market. It was Hubert who introduced the North American market, now shaping up as a perfect sounding board for the U.S. market. Hubert introduced North Americans, via Canada, to Spain's Miguel Rios and current chart happenner "Song Of Joy".

Liza Minnelli, who received rave reviews for her club appearances as well as being nominated for an Academy Award for her role in the "Sterile Cuckoo" flick, was recorded "live" at a recent Olympia (Paris) appearance. This album with a mixture of French and English will be released soon.

Prior to this however, A&M will bow Miss Minnelli's initial set for the label - "Come Saturday Morning".

ADLER'S ODE 70 JOINS A&M

A&M flexed its muscles and have become involved, for the first time, in the worldwide distribution of another label. Lou Adler's Ode 70 will now become a part of the A&M family. A&M and Adler have acquired the rights to all Ode masters which were formerly released through CBS. These include product by Peggy Lipton, former star of ABC's "Mod Squad"; Carol King; and a new underground chick, Baby Merry Clayton, who has been featured on albums by the Rolling Stones; Joe Cocker and Leon Russell.

One exception to the above is Spirit, who now come under the Ode Production banner but release on Epic.

The above deal was concluded upon completion of Ode's three year contract with CBS and calls for the exclusive records production of Adler as well as executive functions in the recording field. Adler will however, continue to produce, independently: John Phillips and any of the Mamas and Papas for Dunhill Warlock; Johnny Rivers for Imperial; and the Everly Brothers for Warner Bros.

RUMOUR BECOMES FACT

Rumours of A&M coming into Canada, as an independent, were ripe for several months before the official announcement made it fact. Many scoffed at the idea of Alpert and Moss breaking into a market so geographically unsound as Canada. It was no secret that our market was only 5% of the U.S. market. A hit record sells as much in the city of Philadelphia as it does in the whole Dominion.

When the official announcement of A&M setting up shop in Canada was made in the November 29th issue of RPM, the charts looked pretty sad for A&M. Alpert, as usual, was making a good showing. His big one was "You Are My Life" and his album product had received a giant sized boost with his widely acclaimed "open-air" concerts in Toronto and Montreal a few months previous. Jimmy Cliff had a cliffhanger with his entry of "Wonderful World, Beautiful People", and Ike and Tina Turner made the charts, but little else, with their deck "River Deep, Mountain High". Why would they come into Canada with odds like that? Nevertheless into Canada they came and after scouting the entire North American disc scene they agreed on a Canadian with a sound backing of U.S. record know-how, name of Gerry Lacoursiere. It's often been said, what this country needs is American know-how, not their money. A&M have given the Canadian scene both, in a rather unique manner. Lacoursiere has had an excellent training for the disc business. From sales rep to promotion manager of labels, to branch manager and senior executive posts. He was trained well in the push, boost, and hype methods associated with most U.S. operations, but he retained a Canadian conservatism that actually identifies him to this country. He was born in the lunch bucket town of Windsor Ontario, which is just an accent away from one of the major disc markets in the U.S. A&M must have recognized all Lacoursiere's traits as fuse material to set the Canadian scene on fire. They gave him the reins and Managing Directorship of the entire Canadian operation. Lacoursiere is, no doubt, shrewd in his business negotiations, as the present status of the company reveals, but he is also excessively liberal in his dealings with the media, from which he is acquiring a growing circle of friends and admirers.

Setting up shop in Canada wasn't just a "watchdog routine". A&M crashed the scene in a seemingly unorthodox manner. Lacoursiere wanted a greater share of the Canadian market for A&M product and he demanded individual attention. He required two lieutenants - one for Montreal east to the Atlantic Provinces and one for Ontario west to British Columbia. He canvassed the available talent, of which there was an abundance, whether qualified or not. He knew it would be a simple matter to steal top talent from other record companies, but he was also aware that it was easier to acquire robots and much harder to woo their programmers.

Being that A&M was ever conscious of the generation and communication gaps Lacoursiere had to concentrate on available talent in their mid-twenties, having a drive and dedication that would set them heads and shoulders above all competitors. Lacoursiere's chore was more like a challenge - in a country that was only now recognizing the necessity of promoting, for economics sake. His choice - David Brodeur and Liam Mullan, couldn't have been better. Both knew the A&M line, having worked for Quality Records, distributors of the label until A&M went solo. Brodeur had been tagged "the hustling promotion man in the bi-bi town". Being completely bilingual he would be a great asset for A&M in Quebec. Mullan, an Irish fanatic when it comes to music, was programming the successful CKGM in Montreal when Lacoursiere offered him the A&M job.

A&M DISTRIB DEAL - UNIQUE

Rather than lump his hot little potato into the hands of one Canadian distributor, Lacoursiere took a rather unorthodox approach. He negotiated with the powerful and well established London Records of Canada, to look after the distribution of A&M product in Quebec and the Eastern Townships of Ontario. Brodeur moved into London's St. Laurent headquarters to work closely with their promotion department.

Canadian Assemblies, based in Amherst Nova Scotia, took on the job of distributing A&M product throughout the Atlantic Provinces. Their batting average for distribution was excellent and the new A&M line was a welcome addition.

Capitol Records of Canada had one of the finest promotion networks in the country. They were voted the Top Record Company In Promotional Activities - 1969 in the Annual RPM poll and had just gone through an administration strengthening that made them one of the most progressive record companies in Canada. Mullan, although headquartered in A&M's Toronto offices is now working closely with Capitol's promotion and sales staff.

What has happened since A&M moved lock, stock and image into Canada is somewhat phenomenal. They no sooner launched their Canadian operation when they hit the entire country with a bombshell. "A Song Of Joy" by Miguel Rios had been released in Europe a year ago and had made good chart gains throughout the Continent. Dave Hubert, International Director of A&M, picked up a soft cut of the single on a recent trip across the pond and sent a dub to Liam Mullan in Toronto. Mullan got a little shook when he first tuned in this single (Schiller's "Ode To Joy") which is the Finale of Beethoven's 9th Symphony. He contacted Lacoursiere, who was meeting with industry people on Canada's West Coast who, after hearing the record on the telephone, instructed Mullan to set it for release and start concentrating on a promotional campaign. The Telegram's Ritchie Yorke, who is known more for his specializing in "head" sounds, flipped out and devoted his entire column to the Rios single. All the broadcast giants in Toronto: CKFH, CFRB, CHUM-FM, CKFM and the CBC were eager for copies as soon as they heard Mullen's "telephone audition". CFRB's Gordon Sinclair devoted several minutes of his "Showbiz" rambling to the single and the station's music director, Art Collins, set Friday April 3rd at 10:15 P.M. as "Rios Hour" on hogtown's No. 1 station. So confident was Collins of the impact the single would have on CFRB listeners, he brought in auxiliary help for the switchboard. When George Wilson intro'd the disc with his usual authoritative manner, extro'ing it in the same way, the switchboard literally lit up and even with the auxiliary help it was almost impossible to handle all the calls.

35,000 RIOS SALES - TORONTO

From the strength of Toronto play alone, A&M have shipped 35,000 records. Lacoursiere and Mullen are now busily tie-ing in the rest of the country, now that the lid has proven its potential. David Brodeur has reported early indications have Montreal shaping up as being a Rios stronghold. Again, the giants; CJAD, CJFM, CFCF, CKGM, CKVL, and CFOX have given exposure and comment to the single.

An indication that the single is prime fare for Top Forty radio comes with the announcement by CKOC's Nevin Grant (Hamilton) that the disc has moved into the

No. 30 berth on the station's survey.

Whatever else is happening for A&M (Canada) is somewhat overshadowed by the enormity of the Rios single but, like they say in the trade, "One record does not a record company make". Lacoursiere and his crew have a full roster of potential shaping up across the nation. Their recent "Cream of The Cream" promotion has already guaranteed best seller status for the sampler set, which retails at $1.98. Contained on this album are past greats by: Herb Alpert and The Tijuana Brass; The Baja Marimba Band; Wes Montgomery; The Sandpipers; and Phil Ochs. Follow-up to this sampler were the five "Greatest Hits" albums, 8 track and cassette configurations of the above named artists. Lacoursiere reports, at time of writing, that the "Greatest Hits" album of Herb Alpert and The Tijuana Brass has already surpassed the 50,000 units sold mark with encouraging sales for the other sets particularly the Wes Montgomery package, in the Montreal area.

NEW LOOK FOR COCKER

Perhaps the most impressive action goes to England's Joe Cocker, who has just introduced his new Mad Dogs and Englishmen group. Made up of 42 people (wives, lovers, children and dogs) - and smash reviews, wherever they go, they are currently touring North America. There mode of transport is a private Martin 202, 4 prop aircraft. They carry their own PA system and are accompanied by Barry Feinstein, film maker, responsible for "You Are What You Eat". Feinstein is filming the group, in concert and just lazing around. A&M have arranged for several "live" recordings of the group which will comprise their next album. Taping of their "live" performances will be done on a 16 track system. Prices for the new Cocker group range from $25,000 per night...up. They are tentatively skedded for a Toronto appearance, mid-May.

Ike and Tina Turner will have another go at the charts, which they unfortunately didn't conquer on their last "Climb Every Mountain" effort. They've come up with a Phil Spector masterpiece, "A Love Like Yours" with the identifiable Spector wall of background music - long overdue for a revival.

The Sandpipers look good for another go 'round with "Come Saturday Morning". Interest has been re-kindled because of the attention being given the "Sterile Cuckoo" flick.

OSCAR FOR "BUTCH CASSIDY"

The Oscar giveaways has added more sales potential to the soundtrack from the 20th Century movie "Butch Cassidy And The Sundance Kid". Burt Bacharach picked up an Oscar for "Best Original Score Non-Musical" and "Best Song" - "Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head" by B.J. Thomas is contained on the set. Since the Academy night, orders have resulted in the album being listed as a best seller.

The A&M Canada story is the latest happening for this believer of chance and change company.

The above is as current as we can possibly be. What happens over this next weekend will be another chapter and you'll probably hear it on the radio (with a new hit), see it in the movies or on television, or just feel the vibrations of Lacoursiere, Brodeur and Mullan. You'll also be first hand witness to A&M's progress through their streamers, posters, stand up easels, consumer pass outs, divider cards, personal local and long distance telephone calls and all that's necessary in making for a good record company image.

Western Appointment For RCA

Vancouver: Wayne Langton, RCA's Western Sales Manager, has announced the appointment of R. J. Simons as Promotions Coordinator for the company in the British Columbia and Alberta territory. Mr. Simons is a graduate of the University of British Columbia and a member of the Data Processing Management Association. Prior to his RCA posting, Simons was associated with the Compo Company in the promotion field and with Taylor, Pearson & Carson (Quality), in which position he directed all phases of promotion for British Columbia.

R.J. SIMONS

Most of his time during the past five years has been taken up by his advertising agency, Trend, employing six people. Trend, of which Simons is President and General Manager, handles the advertising end of RCA's western operations, making the appointment an ideal tie-in.

Quality Four For Canadian Radio

Quality Records currently have four Canadian discs happening on radio station charts and play-lists across Canada. Several jocks have been so impressed with the Quality releases they've sent letters of congratulations to Quality's promo super Harold Winslow. Leading the quartet of hits is the Original Caste deck "Mr. Monday", followed closely by The Meadow's "Oh Darling". Calgary's Gainsborough Gallery, who recently saw top national action with their lid "Life Is A Song" have made good strides up the charts with their latest release "Ev'ry Man Hears Different Music". The Gallery are presently setting dates for a cross Canada tour. David Jensen has shown early indications of becoming a chart mover with his locally produced (Toronto) release "You're My Life". The flip "I Want You" has also come in for important radio plays.

Quality's foreign entries have made strong moves up the charts with Sweet Henry's Paramount discing "Cecilia" showing the most potential. Greg Stewart, of CKWS Kingston, has been instrumental in breaking this single in the Eastern townships. Stewart has also "picked" and proven the potential of the "Pictures Of Bob Dylan" cut from the Original Caste's new album release. He has also given the Windfall people sufficient proof of hit possibilities of the "Mississippi Queen" cut from the Leslie West/Felix Pappalardi set "Mountain Climbing", it could be culled as a single. CKWS is already charting the cut as a single.

Roy Clark product receives a welcome TV boost when he makes an appearance on the top rated Glen Campbell "Good Time Hour", Sunday April 19th (CTV).

Mashmakhan

JERRY MERCER

— Jerry looks like a judo expert — and he is. He used to work at IBM ("BC", he says, meaning Before Computers), but soon gave that up to knock his drums around. Jerry first sampled show business singing at weddings and in something called the Blue Sky Revue. But such as Art Blakey turned him on to drumming and now he provides the powering drive for Mashmakhan's new breed of music.

Mothers Of Invention Reform For TV Special

Frank Zappa has temporarily re-formed the Mothers of Invention for a special concert with Zubin Mehta and the Los Angeles Philharmonic to be performed this May. Zubin Mehta was recently seen on TV with the Nice, Santana and Jethro Tull in the somewhat mediocre "Switched On Symphony". One hopes that the efforts of Frank Zappa will help to bring this fusion of two different styles of music to a higher level than was allowed on the TV show.

lisa robinson

The program will be divided into three parts, the first consisting of the orchestra's performance of "Immobiles" by Mel Powell and "Integrales" by Edgar Varese. In the second, the Mothers will perform scored interpretations of the Integrales and an additional piece. The third part will feature the Mothers and the Philharmonic simultaneously and interchangeably conducted by Mehta and Zappa performing excerpts from Zappa's 2½ hour original composition - "200 Motels".

In all of the years that Zappa has been composing, this will be the first time that a full symphony orchestra will be performing his work. In the past he has had to hire all the musicians individually to play with the Mothers.

In preparation for this concert the Mothers will be playing a series of concerts at various places in the United States, including the Fillmore East, (on Mother's Day!) and the Philadelphia Academy of Music. The group insists that it is not interested again in touring, but that it is only to get them together for the L.A. concert/. However, if is the first time in nine months that the band will be together, and Zappa is publicly declaring no responsibility for whatever might happen.

On his own, Zappa is currently performing and recording with the players featured on his "Hot Rats" album. The group has a second album in preparation, to be called "Chunga's Revenge".

Canadian Studios Time At A Premium

A recent canvass of Toronto studios has resulted in the finding of increased business with a high percentage going to label work.

RCA's John Pozer reports "double the business" for the same period last year. It has also been necessary to take on more staff to accommodate the new business.

Terry Brown, head man at Revolution Sound Studios, reports solid bookings, some of it two months in advance. Revolution is the only Toronto studio with a 16 track system which demands a higher cost for renting. Even with this increased cost the time still continues to be booked with sessions running into the early morning and on weekends.

Sound Canada Studios are experiencing an average of 18 hours a day with brisk weekend business. Art Snider, president of Sound Canada, estimates the increase as 40% over last year.

Murray Shields, of Eastern Sound Studios, reports an anticipated levelling off of activity. They will shortly be installing new equipment and are confident of the label and jingle business increasing.

A new quarter of a million dollar studio complex is underway for downtown Toronto. Manta Sound, who are behind this venture, express much confidence in the growing record production market.

Vancouver's Studio 3 Productions have shown a good increase in business. Ralph Harding, of Studio 3, suggests an overall increase in Vancouver's 5 studios.
