CAB Awards

To the best in private broadcasting

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters, the organization of almost all of Canada's private broadcasters, celebrated its 50th anniversary and presented its industry awards during the association's annual meeting in Ottawa last week.

Celebration comes back after Harmonium loss

The Celebration label "is the one we've slated for French-Canadian acts," Quality's A&R director R. A. (Bob) Morten told RPM.

"With our current acquisition of Opus 5, we've more than made up for the loss of Harmonium," Morten said. The initial French-language LP from Quebec's Opus 5 is now picking up in the U.S. (Quality had lost Harmonium to Columbia's CBS Disques.)

While recording the Opus 5 LP at Montreal's Triangle Studios, Morten negotiated with owners Robert LeBlanc and Alain Lalonde to record their own band, Encor'. Negotiating in December, Celebration signed Encor' for English and French product (terms reportedly unacceptable to Harmonium). In February, 1976, Encor' changed their name to Appopot, and Morten expects their first LP "within six weeks."

Nearly 1,000 people jammed Toronto's Harbord Collegiate Auditorium to honour the late Paul Robeson, singer, film actor and stage star who died recently. Participants from Toronto's music, dance, theatre and black communities staged a mixed-media tribute highlighted by the presence of songwriter Earl Robinson. Sponsors of the event included Lou Applebaum, Dave Broadfoot, Max Ferguson, Estelle Klein, Anton Kuerti, George Luscombe, Catherine McKinnon, Don Parrish and Paul Siren.

Winnipeg's CKY-TV top TV station of the year, Trois Rivières' CHLN the number one AM station and St. Catharines' CHSC-FM the FM station of the year.

Sydney N.S.'s CJCB-TV won the H. Gordon Love award for quality newswork. The late Mr. Love from Calgary's CFCN-AM, FM, TV, is credited with setting up the first radio newsroom in Canada. CJCB was granted the award for its broadcast efforts to highlight a critical housing shortage in Cape Breton and provoking government attention.

Dr. G. R. A. Rice, president of Edmonton's Sunwapta Broadcasting, (CFRN-AM, FM, TV) was honoured with the Ted Rogers Sr./Velma Rogers Graham Award for "making the most

Good Brothers/Vannelli

The Agency, recently signed exclusive booking representation for RCA's The Good Brothers (Larry, Bruce and Brian Michael McMaster and Carl Kees).

The band's single, That's The Kind of Man I Am, was recently released by RCA. The Good Brothers will embark for Western Canadian tour dates, including Vancouver and Victoria, with the Earl Scruggs Review. Other dates skedded include the Farrell Folk Festival, Carlisle's Bluegrass '76 (June 4-6) and a guest spot over CBC's Bob Ruzicka Show, taped in Edmonton.

A&M's Gino Vannelli will also be booked by the Agency, the firm's chief David "Blue" Bluestein told RPM.

The Juno award winner recently received prominent billing over CBC's The Great Canadian Culture Hunt. Currently touring Europe, Vannelli has completed filming a television special in Holland, and is planning to record his fourth A&M LP in Britain, before returning to Canada as official arts representative for the Montreal Olympics.

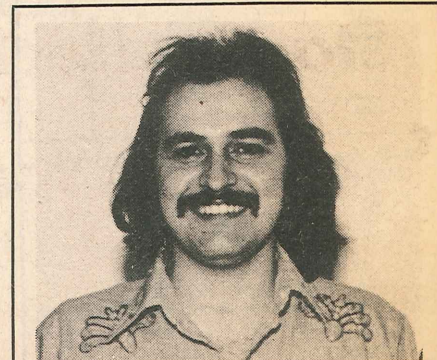

Anne Murray starts cross-Canada tour

May 4 in Lethbridge Alberta, Capitol's Anne Murray begins another cross-Canada tour.

Murray will play 18 dates: Medicine Hat Arena and Convention Centre (5), Saskatchewan's Swift Current Civic Centre (6), Moose Jaw Civic Centre (7), Saskatoon Centennial Auditorium (9), Prince Albert Communiplex (10), North Battleford Civic Centre (11), Yorkton Regional High School (12), Fredericton's UNB Aitken University Centre (14), Hamilton Place (18-19), Peterborough Memorial Centre (20), Oshawa Civic Auditorium (21), Ottawa National Arts Centre (22-23), Sudbury Arena (25), Sault Ste. The Fredericton New Brunswick date (14) will be a reunion concert for the tenth anniversary of Murray's university graduating class.

Fellow Balmur "Maritime Mafia" member John Allan Cameron will appear on the Western dates (May 4-12), and United Artists' Keath Barrie will be her "special guest" for the Ontario dates (May 18-28).

Gene Falbo, not to be confused with Galbo, bass man for Hero, Columbia's newest signing, to be produced by Bob Gallo.

MYA LANGE
MYA
GOLP-2-K

Mya Lange is a Terry Jacks discovery from Vancouver who, despite a single release last fall (Ice And Fire, included on this album), has remained rather unknown outside of her home province.

London's national promo chief, Gary Chalmers, has personally taken charge of a massive national promotion campaign to bring Mya into prominence.

Although Jacks only produced three of the 11 cuts, his influence is always felt, and in fact Mya often sounds like the other half of the Poppy Family. The rest of the time she sounds something like Maria Muldaur, without the same maturity.

Production on the other eight songs is by Guy Sobell at Can Base. Sobell has recorded Mya's delicate voice over a tight, light rock base with accent on the rhythm guitar and electric piano. Excellent guitar work is by Sobell, Jerry Doucette and Jamie Bowers.

Mya writes her own songs, which create an image lyrically of her being the kind of woman who dares anyone to show her something new about love. There's an audience for this, and strong promotion with the MOR market in mind will be worthwhile.

Hideaway
 WB BS 2932-P

Latest LP by light-rock trio is still produced by George Martin, whose orchestral touch appears on more reflective cuts such as Watership Down, Who Loves You and title cut. Includes Today's The Day, to be released as single. 13 cuts should maintain the group's position as Warner Bros. top love baladeers.

PAUL HANN

Another Tumbleweed MA PL
 SPL 1001-K

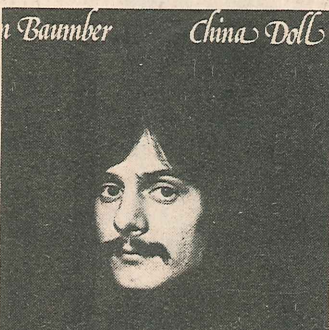

Hann is already enjoying cross-over success with Almost Fell Into Her Eyes from the LP, and others like These Thousand Goodbyes have similar potential. Lyricist Paul White has a strange sense of humour, but is appealing with I'll be your Antique Freak and Salvation Annie. Produced by Holger Peterson, Tommy Banks on keyboards & arrangements.

First album from Regina folk-singer now based in Toronto features ten originals of interest to FM and MOR-formated stations. Kerry Crawford on guitars with Baumber, Jonathan Goldsmith on keyboards all three of whom shared production. Tony Kosinec on background vocals. Keep It On The Tracks and Duncan And The Devil are outstanding cuts. On self-distributed Ixtlan label.

THE MEMPHIS HORNS

 APLI-1355-N

Having backed just about everybody in studio sessions, the Memphis Horns, under the production of Booker T. Jones, have released an album featuring themselves. Ten brassy instrumental disco cuts, originals by Booker T. and by band members. Some good FM fare and singles potential, but LP could do quite well as a whole, due to good packaging.

Jim Corbett, GRT's national marketing manager, appointed Alex Petchkin regional sales manager in the label's Calgary office, and Joe Toews to manager Ontario regional sales.

Working in the Calgary office under Petchkin, who will handle all product, servicing and promotion, are Rita Psaid and Alex Wong. Shan Kelly and Rick Dunlop will work under Toews, who has been with GRT for more than three years.

GRT promo manager Jeff Burns appointed Liz Braun to the newly-created post of GRT press officer and made Scott McDougall the label's promo rep in Quebec.

Braun, formerly with Finkelstein and Fiedler, will also handle artist relations and promo work in addition to her press duties.

Dixon-Propas set new management goals

Neill Dixon, partner in the Toronto based Dixon-Propas Management firm, has announced a trimming back of booking activities to devote more effort toward the management of their growing roster of artists. The firm, actively involved in the acquiring of top name and highly potential fresh new talent for several Toronto and area clubs, will no longer be involved in this type of PR for the El Mocambo, Jarvis House, Ports of Call, The Ascott, Riverside and London's Fryfogles.

The Dixon-Propas management roster now boasts such names as Martha Reeves, Junior Walker, The Good Brothers, Larry Evoy, Cherril and Robbie Rae and the Mighty Pope.

A platinum LP, $million tour

vintage Wine

by Boyd Tattrie

The Montreal-based April Wine set a Canadian record March 15 when their Aquarius album, The Whole World's Goin' Crazy, shipped platinum which represents a walloping advance order of 1,000,000 copies. The album, this week tops the RPM chart, rare for a Canadian album. Their title single makes it to No. 31 with a bullet this week on the RPM 100.

The band is currently in the middle of the Western half of a 45-date national tour that started in Timmins (March 31). After Vancouver (May 15), they'll play Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal and Hamilton in June (dates still to be announced). Following a break, the tour resumes in Campbellton, N.B. (June 24) and continues through the east, winding up in St. John's (July 15).

Donald Tarlton, Aquarius part-owner and president of Donald K. Donald, the firm managing the tour, believes this tour will gross $1 million.

So far on the tour, April Wine have set two records. On April 19, they became the first band from any country to sell out the Regina Stadium; and in Edmonton April 23-24, they were the first to sell out the Kinsmen Field House two nights in a row.

The tour and album promotion centres around the Whole World's Goin' Crazy theme. Aquarius hired Bob Lemm of Promotivation Art to develop a visual concept to boost the album, and the result was the now-familiar Mad Hatter character, who will continue to appear on posters, buttons, T-shirts and store displays to promote the tour. Saturation campaigns are aimed at leading top-40 and FM stations in each centre, supplemented by newspaper ads and TV spots in some markets.

April Wine's last tour, built around their LP Stand Back, visited 80 cities and grossed about $750,000. The album became platinum some months ago, and sales are approaching the 160,000 mark. The three preceding albums, On Record, Electric Jewels, and April Wine Live, have all reached gold.

Averaging about 100,000 singles sales annually, April Wine have had a dozen national hits, including Bad Side Of The Moon, You Could've Been A Lady, Drop Your Guns, Oowatanite, and several others in the six years they've been together, putting them on the brink of being the premiere Canadian rock singles band.

However, certain factors have prevented them from achieving greater fame.

They have no American distribution deal. They were signed with Big Tree but only two singles were released in four years. That contract expired some months ago, and now Terry Flood, April Wine manager and Aquarius president, is expected to announce a new major deal for American and international distribution, of the new album and all future material, by the end of May.

Another factor is unfortunate timing. This year April Wine was nominated for four major Juno Awards. Stand Back was up for Best Selling Album, and the band was up for Group of the Year. Myles Goodwyn, leader and vocalist, was nominated for composer and producer Junos. But they stood little chance against BTO in the album and group categories, and this was the year of Hagood Hardy, who bagged the composer award for himself and the producer award for Peter Anastasoff.

Goodwyn, who's been trying his hand at solo production with Bronze, another Aquarius group, is the only member who was with the group when it began in 1970, in Halifax. After four months there, the band moved to Montreal, where they secured a recording contract with Aquarius.

Their first album, April Wine, sold a modest 10,000 copies. After changing bass players, they recorded the On Record and Electric Jewels albums. Due to a familiar case of musical incompatibility, the two remaining originals parted, requiring a full reformation. Moffet, Mercer, Goodwyn and bassist Jim Clench represents it's 5th annual awards

by Walt Grealis

The setting was the Centennial Ballroom of the Inn on the Park, the date Wednesday April 21st., and it was ACTRA's turn to put its best foot forward with their fifth annual Awards Dinner. The Ballroom has never been dressed up as it was for this event. The CBC with the cooperation of the Inn on the Park people, had literally changed the room to meet camera specifications, and they were still able to squeeze more than 800 anxious members of Canada's television and radio acting community into a banquet setting.

The two-hour (plus) show, produced by John Thompson, who also boasts production credits for the Junos, was televised on the entire CBC television network.

From the standpoint of audience participation, presenters polish and recipient enthusiasm, the ACTRA Awards overshadowed the Junos. One must be reminded however, that the must be reminded however, that these people are all professionals.

creation) obviously means more to the recipient than it does to many of those who win Junos, borne out by the acceptance speeches which were much more heartfelt and humbly professional. It was an atmosphere of comradery. The members of the ACTRA union have found their people very receptive to the awards and, even to an outsider, the honours bestowed were genuinely cherished.

The struggle of the Canadian actor, writer and producer, for radio and television, has been a long and often bitter battle for recognition. The degree of respect that one actor has for another is that which the record industry should first envy and then attempt to emulate.

Taking Nellies home with them were: Harry Brown (Best Public Affairs Broadcaster in Radio) for "Metro Morning"; Warner Troyer (Best Writer in the Documentary Mode in the Visual Media) for "Minimato" (The Fifth Estate); John Harvard (Best Public Affairs Broadcaster in Television) for "24 Hours"; Ted Allan (Best Writer in the Dramatic Mode in the Visual Me-

The Earle Grey Award went to Jayne Eastwood for her performance as Hardy in "The Last of the Four Letter Words"; the Andrew Allan Award to Chris Wiggins for his performance as King Magnus in "The Apple Cart" and Adrienne Clarkson and Warner Troyer received the Gordon Sinclair Award for "The Fifth Estate".

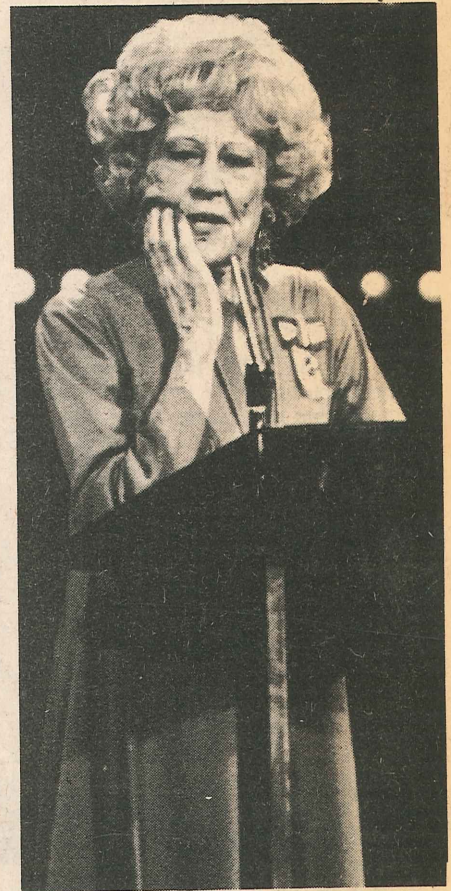

One of the most touching moments of the evening was the presentation of the John Drainie Award to an unsuspecting Jane Mallett for which she received a well deserved standing ovation.

The person most responsible for this very thriving industry and there was a room full of working actors, writers and producers to prove it, wasn't overlooked either. Mr. Pierre Juneau, first Chairman of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission and now parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, was honoured with a coveted Nellie and a standing ovation.

Much of the success of the evening was due the preparation for the awards dinner and the arranging of presenters and attendance of nominees - and all of it put together by the ACTRA team and in particular Margaret Collier and Elizabeth Malone - and of course, the driving force of Pierre Berton who emceed the show.

CBC boss describes net's Canadianism

Addressing the Canadian Club on the topic of "CBC And Canadianism", CBC president A.W. Johnson maintained, the purpose of the CBC "is simple and clear - the preservation and enrichment of Canadianism."

Nearly 50 per cent of an average Canadian's leisure time is devoted to watching television, 20 per cent to radio: the CBC "must be relied upon to reflect through these powerful media, Canadian values, Canadian attitudes and perceptions, and Canadian institutions and history," Johnson emphasized.

He stressed television has become "the most pervasive and powerful broadcasting medium in the world" and Canadians have more choice in radio/television programming than any other people in the world.

"The country needs a CBC," he said, but currently, "English Canadians, now, are spending more than two-thirds of their television viewing time, watching U.S. programmes."

He cited cable as the prime culprit of luring away the television viewer, "capable of bringing up to four U.S. channels to some 50 per cent of Canadians, and by 1980, that figure is sure to reach around 65 per cent." Vancouver cable subscribers now number "80 per cent and Toronto 70 per cent. One hundred per cent American content . . . on three or four channels. Then there is one Canadian network in English Canada, and another in Ontario alone, which brings us U.S. programmes nearly 50 per cent of the time . . . much of this during prime time."

In Johnson's estimation, CBC televises U.S. programmes, "roughly 30 per cent," but "multiplicity of choice," is what he considers the advantage of CBC programming (although if viewers shift away from the network, the issue can become a "threat to Canadian programming.")

He reasoned, "we in Canadian television, both public and private broadcasters must so improve Canadian programming, that Canadians will prefer to watch it rather than American programming." Answering skepticism, Johnson explained, "we have already done it once . . . in the development of the strong and distinctive cultural life to be found in French Canada today."

The language barrier "forced" the development of French-Canadian programming, "since French-language programmes could not be bought as readily as English language programmes from the U.S."

"If the CBC was able to do this in French Canada," he insisted, "we can do it in English Canada."

Johnson believes that Canadians watch more American programming, because "American networks spend fully three times as much in producing one hour of television as the CBC can afford to do. Until these odds are reduced, it simply is unreasonable to expect the CBC to be able to compete effectively with U.S. television."

"The CBC has not been able to afford to produce exclusively Canadian programming, simply because our budget would have had to be very much larger to produce Canadian programmes to replace the American and British ones we now carry."

"There is a price for remaining Canadian," but he added, "we must earn the right to your increasing support by producing distinctively Canadian programmes, not American copies."

OECA-TV's Nightmusic sets spring schedule

OECA programming announced the line-up of featured guests for up-coming Nightmusic shows. The Ontario educational TV network airs the shows, hosted by Rainer Schwarz, each Friday night from 11:00 to midnight.

Scheduled for May appearances are: Original Sloth Band (17), Watson & Reynolds (14), Rough Trade (21), and Bim (28). In June the show will stage Nash and Slash (4), Mr. Downchild Trio, the nucleus of the Downchild Blues Band (11), Jack and Tobi Firecloud (18) and Christopher Ward and Nancy Simmonds (25).

Selected repeats will be aired throughout the summer.

Randle scores 'W5 special

Composer Doug Randle has created an original music score for a CTV W5 special, The Children's Hospital, and a rare recognition by this television network of Canadian composers.

Randle, a Canadian composer and conductor who has been scoring film, radio and TV for over 30 years, was commissioned by director Pat Corbet to "hold the emotional strength of our story" of the relationships between staff and patients in the real-life documentary as seen through the eyes of a five-year-old heart patient.

Nazareth: B.C. shakedown

Nazareth's current LP, Close Enough For Rock 'N Roll, shipped gold, April 13. The A&M single, Vancouver Shakedown, received an "exceptionally high" listener response on CKLG-Vancouver plus a hefty coverage in the West Coast dailies. Vancouver Shakedown describes the band's 1974 tour, when they were firmed to play Victoria but had to cancel due to a heavy fog and a late ferry.

The Victoria concert promoter impounded the band's equipment for six months.

Attic re-releases

Oscar-winning song

Attic Records have re-released Ron Nigrini's cover of Keith Carradine's I'm Easy following the song's Oscar win as best film song, in Robert Altman's Nashville.

Attic's Tom Williams remarked, "We will join the fray."

Attic also released Stanley Frank's S'cool Days and Bobby Edwards' Carl's Calypso, the second single from his LP Guitars, Guitars.

RCA Canada GM Ed Preston looks here as if he's getting, not giving, a gold record award. But, once again Preston shells out, this time to John Johnson, producer-director of Pig 'n Whistle, on the 10th anniversary of the CFTO-TV show. On hand, but not pictured, were the Carlton Showband. They have been with the program since its 1966 debut.

PROMO CALLS
BY ROB MEARNS

Capitol's Scoot Irwin squired countryman Ray Griff around Toronto town and dropped into RPM for a chat with Alan Guettel. Ray has a couple of good sounding singles ready to pop off his new album.

Johnny Murphy is keeping the local RCA offices hopping with a "record" twelve Cancon singles to work. There are too many to mention here, but just ask Murph, he's bustin' a gut to let it all hang out.

Lori Bruner and company (meaning a large entourage of Polydor sales and promo people) made up for the rudeness towards Hammersmith by the Kiss audience (it's a tough act to open for) with a lot of attention after the show. This Vancouver-based comprising members of the old 49th Parallel, are breaking into the national scene very well and are now readying their next album. By the way, they they're managed by Bruce Allen.

Arista's Rick Nickerson dropped off a bundle of new album product including the Greatest Hits album by the Monkees, entitled Re-focus. This is the only Monkee product available on the market today. The new BCR single, Rock and Roll Love Letter, released last week is getting better response in Canada than in the U.S.

Quality's promo and sales crew, Jack Vermeer, Gene Lew, Dom Postorino and Nick Paniseko did up an after the show bash at Sam The Chinese Food Man for Kiss. The reception was incredibly laced with freeloaders but obviously a phenomenal success.

Columbia's Terry McGee dropped off the latest LP product including the Johnny Winter album. By the way, will be playing Toronto's MLG May 8.

Jim Campbell is currently promoting the John Hammond concert at Toronto's Le Coq D'or for May 17 through the 22nd. He's also spreading the word on the Rolling Stones' Black & Blue set along with their new single, Fool To Cry. WEA have a Cancon single with Tommy Ambrose's The Night Time and My Baby, which meets the sound for all formats.

Scott McNeill, the creative hand behind Columbia's ad and display works of art, advises that Johnny Taylor's Disco Lady has gone gold in the U.S. and is looking good in Canada as well. The single, you will remember, didn't get it together for five weeks after the U.S. release but it didn't take long to take off. Scott is also high on the new Tom Middleton album, now being readied for release. Tom's single, I Need A Harbour For My Soul, is "cooking" with the programmers.

Dassin & Mahogany Rush to Columbia distribution

Latest CBS Disque coup is the acquisition of Joe Dassin for Canadian distribution. The CBS France recording artist has enjoyed a successful relationship with CBS in Europe for the past ten years and has been distributed in Canada by RCA for the past three years. The pacting calls for all new product.

In the French vein, but with the Quebecois accent is a distribution agreement between CBS Disques and the Montreal-based Ko'tai label. The next three albums will be distributed by CBS Disques.

Creative Arts caps year with Abramson-Newman

To cap off their concert season (picking up again September 1976), the Dick Flohil/Ellen Davidson Creative Arts organization will present singer-songwriter Randy Newman, Massey Hall, May 8.

Montreal's Ronny Abramson, newly-signed to Finkelstein - Fiedler's True North, will open the show.

Creative Arts presented Irish "traditionalist" musicians, The Chieftains, Massey Hall (April 29) who have overcome a previously "esoteric" following via their accessible soundtrack for Stanley Kubrick's Barry Lyndon. The band played a north Toronto collegiate in 1973, to approximately 300 people. Their recent Canadian date attracted a near-capacity audience.

"Attempting to break the Irish market," Creative Arts previously brought Liam Clancey and Ryan's Fancy to Massey Hall.

Creative Arts, throughout 1975 and early 1976, presented folk and blues-flavoured bands such as Bonnie Raitt and Tom Waits, Leon Redbone, Eric Andersen and Willie P. Bennett, Stringband and Sonny Terry and Brownie McGhee.

Columbia's Bond swings east

Columbia's Bond, who scored most recently with the single Back Seat Driver, have confirmed dates for a tour that will swing through the East opening for the Stampeders.

The tour kicks off in St. John N.B., April 30. They play Fredricton May 1, Sussex (2), Bathurst (3), Campbellton (4), Newcastle (5), Amherst (6), Summerside P.E.I. (7), Charlottetown (8), Yarmouth N.S. (10), Bridgewater (11), Truro (12), New Glasgow (13), Halifax (14), Moncton (15), Port Hawkesbury (17) winding up in Sydney May 18.

The tour is being handled by Donald K. Donald.

Gail Dahms gave the first copy of her new Axe label single, This Song Reminds Me Of You to record retailer Sam 'The Record Man' Sniderman.

McLauchlan seven months in and out of Eastern

True North's Bernie Finkelstein reports that Murray McLauchlan's new LP, featuring bandmembers Dennis Pendrith (bass), John Andersen (drums), Ben Mink (mandolin/fiddle) and Gene Martynec (guitar) will be finished recording at Toronto's Eastern Sound, early in May. Release has been skedded for June.

McLauchlan has been working on the project since November 1975. Title of the album is undecided at press time.

CONCERT
REVIEWS

Bad Company

Swan Song's Bad Company hit Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens Concert Bowl Easter Sunday, and led by singer Paul Rodgers, put on a high-powered and simple performance that showed why they are one of the most successful "supergroups."

Their set included material from all three LPs, with emphasis on their newest, Run With The Pack, currently No. 13 on the RPM album chart. The songs most well-received were Young Blood (charted at No. 19 this week), and an audience-participation version of the song that launched their career, Can't Get Enough.

The opening act was A&M recording artists Styx, from Chicago, a band that's hit quite recently despite four previous albums. The appreciative audience recognized Lady, the song that got them on the charts some months ago, and Lorelei, the No. 11 single this week. Their new album, Equinox, in the top 30 of the album chart, provided them with enough material to put on a densely-layered, fast-paced and melodic concert.

Patti Smith

Arista's Patti Smith played Toronto's Massey Hall, April 15, showcasing a street-tough performance, frenetic enough to stir complacent Toronto audiences.

Accompanied by a four-piece New York-based backup, Smith wailed and rolled, never dropping the pace of her self-composed rock lyricism.

Described in RPM's April 3 (Horses) album review as "this year's high-priestess of rock poets... ranking as the genre's top dogma," Smith's intense performance guarantees her a return engagement in a larger Toronto hall.

Promoter Bernie Finkelstein reports 2,300 attending the show.

CPI shows to coincide with new record product

Concert Productions International will present:

Bob Marley and the Wailers, two shows, May 5, Toronto's Convocation Hall; Joe Cocker (10), Concert Bowl; Johnny Winter (13), Maple Leaf Gardens; Santanna (26), Sudbury Arena, (27), Concert Bowl.

New releases timed to coincide with band concert appearances are: Rastaman Vibration-Bob Marley (Island); Stingray-Joe Cocker (A&M); Captured Live-Johnny Winter (Columbia); Amigos-Santanna (Columbia).

Ray Griff:

by Alan Guettel

"A stranger in my own land"

Ray Griff is a little more than a bit perplexed about the fact that he, an accomplished Canadian singer-songwriter who has lived in Nashville for 12 years, has never achieved recognition in his own country.

"In all of my U.S. appearances I announce that I'm from Calgary, the home of the Stampede, but I'm sort of like a stranger in my own land."

"An artist has an ego," he says noting he's never been nominated for any Canadian awards despite a number of hit song compositions and recordings, both here and in the U.S.

Griff was in Toronto last week to tape a segment of an upcoming CBC show, Catch A Rising Star, and to promo a new single release from his first Capitol LP, Ray Griff. Two cuts of the LP have already hit the charts, You Ring My Bell, released before the LP, and If I Let Her Come In, released with the LP. Griff is looking for a three hit LP with I Love The Way That You Love Me.

Griff toured the Canadian honky-tonk and TV circuit up to 1964 but left for Nashville at the urging of Jim Reeves. "There was nowhere else to go" says Griff.

Reeves died a few months later and Griff had to make it on his own in Music City working in a record pressing plant and other jobs before he settled down to compose and set up his own Blue Echo publishing company.

His first composition, Baby, was covered and became a number one song. Associated with BMI and later ASCAP, Griff has won 16 songwriting awards from the two performing rights organizations. During that time, he says, he "saw recording artistry as sort of a secondary thing."

Griff cut his first record, a single, in 1968. He produced and leased it himself to ABC-Dot. He later signed with a smaller label, Royal American, and produced four of his own singles and an LP for them. All were successful, but the money just wasn't there.

In 1973 he signed with ABC-Dot and cut five singles and two LPs with the label, but didn't feel he had the freedom to produce his own records the way he wanted to. He asked for, and was granted a release from his contract last summer. He immediately signed with Capitol (U.S.).

Griff produced eight of the 10 cuts on his Capitol LP, two he co-produced with Lee Hazen. Not only a singer-songwriter, Griff plays four keyboard instruments on the album.

Griff came to Toronto to do the CBC show "not that I wanted the work that bad, but I wanted to meet people working for Capitol here, and work with (CBC producer) Randy Marcowitz." Marcowitz produced a Ray Griff country show before the artist went to Nashville.

While in town Griff did on-air, live or phone interviews with CJCJ's Charlie Russell, CHML's Johnny Murphy, CHOO's Neil Sutherland, CBW's Lee Major CKLY's Ian Cook and CKFH's Barry Nesbitt. CFGM's Dave Johnson aired one hour of conversation with Griff and cuts from his LP.

OUT IN THE COUNTRY

George (the Sicilian Cowboy) Petralia has outdone himself with his next Oshawa Jamboree skedded for May 23. It's Broadland Night with Gary Buck and Loose Change (he happens to be an RCA recording artist but the push behind Broadland), the Post Family, Dallas Harms and Ron McLeod. Showtime is 8pm at the Canadian Legion Hall, Simcoe Street South.

One of the nicest looking duos, man and wife team Donna and Lee Roy Anderson, have just completed an uneventful week at Toronto's newest country showplace, the Deli & the Den. Between sets owner Wanda table hops and makes the customers feel at home which is a good way of becoming established. Anyhoo . . . Donna and Lee Roy, thanks to Gary Buck are off to New Zealand and a shot at that country's national television. Nice to be recognized outside your own country.

Former MCA artist Russell Thornberry has signed with Edmonton's Royalty Records. Royalty's R. Harlan Smith has set a late spring release date for his first LP on the label.

Known as much for his songwriting as his recording, Thornberry will cut all new, original material on his upcoming LP. Songs from his previous MCA LP include Rosaline and Miss January, which were BMI award-winners.

R. Dean Taylor signed Tim Meehan and Jackson D. Kane to his Autumn Records, a Canadian label.

Kane, an actor-singer who used to play bass with Roy Orbison, appears in The Man Who Fell To Earth, a film starring David Bowie and Lee Remick. Taylor produced his first release, Just A Little Bit.

Meehan's first single, Wanna Get Next To You, was produced by Mike Valvano and Taylor is negotiating an international release for the disc. Autumn is distributed by CTI.

Prince Edward Island's Billy Roy, composer of The Hooker, sung by George Rowsell, is in good stead with his debut solo single, All Night Country Show, on Perwinkle Records.

Described by Roy as "half-real and half-fantasy" it's receiving a worthy country programmer play from "all-night country jocks". The single was released early April, an RPM Pick hit, April 3.

Roy will play with Thunder Country May 3-June 3 at Toronto's Molly & Me tavern.

The Programmers

15 years of radio's eyes in the skies

When hundreds of thousands of Toronto commuters line up bumper to bumper in rush hour traffic, waves are made in the music industry across Canada.

Drivers have little to do but turn on their radios. Toronto's biggest broadcasters, the ones who provide the biggest share of the royalty pie and determine most hit records in Canada, zoom in on broadcasting's most captive audience.

This is the time, especially the morning rush hour, when the big city broadcasters make their money. Class AA and AAA time rates zoom by anywhere from 33 to 100 per cent, to a high of $160 for 30 seconds on CFRB.

That doesn't scare advertisers away.

CFRB time sales reports that this is their most demanded time slot, and often advertisers must be content to buy time in other hours or book ahead.

Commuters have jobs, homes in the suburbs and cars - they're Canada's consumers, and, in the end, they pay for more of Canada's music than teenagers who line up for rock-concert tickets and slashed-priced LPs.

CFRB's Eddie Luther

To keep radios warm in frozen traffic, Toronto's eyes in the skies, five different radio traffic pilots, provide up-to-the-minute reports on how late the listeners will get to work.

Eddie Luther, Canada's first pilot-broadcaster to air traffic reports from a helicopter, is celebrating his 15th anniversary in the air-on the air, during which he has logged more than 13,000 hours of flight time.

Rogers Broadcasting pay $200,000 annually to keep Luther and flight partner Darryl Dahmer, hovering above Toronto's morning and afternoon rush-hour traffic.

Five radio traffic pilots currently fly over Toronto: Luther (Hughes 269) and Dahmer (Cessna 172 high-wing plane) for CHFI-FM, CFRB; Bob Rice (Hughes 500) and Diane Pepper (Hughes 350) for CKEY; and Henry Shannon (twin Commanche low-wing plane) for CFRB.

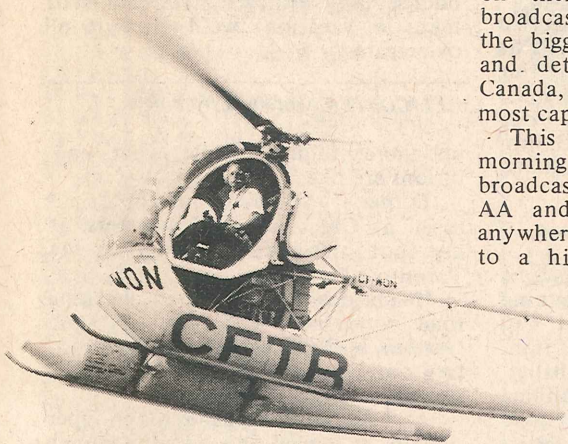

CHUM-FM-Toronto's Warren Down (alias Geets Romo, alias David Haydu) broadcasts a traffic report each morning, but his traffic watch originates from a CHUM-FM studio accompanied by assorted chopper sound effects.

Prior to 1969, CHUM Ltd. dropped their Toronto helicopter traffic report, according to news director Dick Smythe, "because of the cliché, everybody was doing it."

"The most difficult thing about helicopters," Smythe told RPM, "is that when you need them most, they can't fly . . . and that's in bad weather."

"He's right in a way," said Luther. "Certainly there are lots of times we'd like to get up. But we're also needed many times, not just in bad weather. Sure, it could snow overnight, but if it's clear in the morning, we're right

Non-profit radio fighting for its new life

CJRT-FM, Toronto's non-commercial and independent radio station, is attempting to raise almost three-quarters of a million dollars a year to stay on the air.

The station is funded 80% by the Ontario government's ministry of Culture and Recreation, and has had to raise $150,000 on its own, from listeners, corporate sponsors and donors and private charities.

As of March 31 the end of CJRT's fiscal year, the station was $35,000 short of its goal despite innovative public and on-air fundraisers.

"We didn't meet our projection," station manager Cam Finley told RPM, "but the government said they'd make sure we didn't have a deficit."

Nevertheless, CJRT board chairman Mrs. A.K. Stuart told RPM that the station's activities in April brought in enough money to make the drive, launched in December, a success.

Last June CJRT was granted permission to boost the power of its transmission to reach all of Metro Toronto, and in September the CJRT board began a drive to finance the programming of a forward looking, new, and bigger CJRT.

The station lined up seven corporate sponsors. The Toronto Dominion Bank and Bell Canada-Yellow Pages each bought a sponsorship at the rate of $8,000 a year, which gives each of them an on-air mention a day for a year and Simpsons, Simpson-Sears' and Eaton's each donated $4,000, entitling them to three mentions a week.

In addition by March 31, CJRT had 34 other corporate donors, and has added five since then.

Beginning December 31, CJRT solicited donor-members, for a donation of $25 or more. By March 31, 821 individuals had become donor-members and another 1,071 had become donors (less than $25 donations). By mid-April there were over 900 CJRT donor-members and 1204 donors.

Mrs. Stuart estimates that over 6,000 people have participated in the CJRT finance drive through contributions and attendance at CJRT fundraising music fests.

She stressed the "incredible help" given to the station by people in the music business who were backing the station's programming policies, especially in jazz, folk and classical music.

 JAZZ *****

January 12-17, the station ran a jazz benefit at Toronto's Basin Street Club, three hours nightly live on-air and moderated by CJRT-FM jazz buff Ted O'Reilly. The event spotlighted Canada's finest music talent including significant contribution in a single or continuing fashion to the Canadian broadcasting system or for exceptional community services in the role as broadcaster."

CHSC-FM topped all other stations on its band with a staff-produced series, titled Heritage, on the early history of the Niagara Peninsula.

CHLN-AM won the John J. Gillin Award as the AM station of the year for its broadcast efforts and political pressure to win improvements in the public transportation system in its listening area.

CKY-TV was honoured for its own TV productions, including two, one-hour musical variety programmes and a series of 13 half-hour documentaries on interesting Canadian crimes.

CKXL-Calgary engineers Gordon Kyle and Greg Jardine were presented with the Col. Keith Rogers Engineering Award, sponsored by Canadian General Electric, for "most successfully developing engineering or technical ideas... to improve the extent or quality of service." Keith Rogers set up the first mobile wireless station in a Canadian military complex and had the first broadcast licence east of Montreal.

CAB also granted two scholarships and a student citation. Ryerson graduate student Bryan Ellis won the Harry Sedgwick Memorial Award. Last fall he was chosen by fellow students to executive produce an "Inter-Media" series in cooperation with the Global Network.

Ryerson grad Jayne Catherine won the $1,000 Ruth Hancock scholarship and Loyola College's Nathalie Petrowski was awarded the $2,500 Raymond Crepault Award. The Crepault scholarship, sponsored by the Radiomutuel Network, is awarded to French speaking broadcast students.

Oscar Peterson Moe Koffman, Teddy Moses and Ed Bickert, who donated playing time to the cause of assisting CJRT-FM. Supporters attending Basin Street became eligible for trips to the Montreux jazz festival and complete album libraries of Sackville and Pablo record product, donated by the labels.

"There were two snowstorms that week," said Finley "but Basin Street was continually packed," and, Sackville's John Norris added: "It was an opportunity to show people that we have a thriving Canadian jazz community." A total of $10,000 was raised via general admission and donor pledging.

Two weeks following the Basin Street event, CJRT aired four nights of vintage out-of-print records, dating back to the 1930s, from the personal collections of Norris and fellow Coda Jazz Magazine editor Bill Smith. Listeners continued to phone in donations.

CLASSICAL

March 28-31 CJRT ran four days of special classical music programming between 10:00 am and 9:00 pm. On-air guests included George Crum, music director of the national ballet, and Eleanor Sniderman of Aquitaine Records. Every hour the station gave away a classical record prize to a donor. All records were donated by record companies.

On April 25 about 80 members of the Toronto Symphony and conductor Andrew Davis played a benefit concert at Toronto's St. Andrews Church with all proceeds going to CJRT. The concert, which had been pledged to the station by the musicians before the March 31 fundraising deadline, was graced by the "unofficial patronage" of Ontario Lt. Governor Pauline McGibbons.

FOLK

On March 27, CJRT ran a noon to midnight folk benefit at Toronto's Harbourfront which featured dozens of local folk artists. $4,000 was raised.

Even though things are looking up for the station, at the end of the fiscal year they had to cut back $60,000 worth of programming, scratching free-lance commentators and one Ryerson Open College broadcast credit course.

"We've managed to balance our books," said Finley: "After our staff takes a vacation we'll start it all over again."

up there, telling people what conditions are like."

Luther's $60,000 helicopter is based at Great Lakes Helicopters, at the foot of Spadina Avenue on the Toronto lakefront.

He begins his mornings checking road conditions with the OPP and Ontario Motor League, and transmitting preliminary reports into the station.

At 7 am, Luther pushes his chopper out of the hangar and into the launch area, inspects the machine, and awaits clearance from Toronto Island Airport. He wears a headset with mike attachment that allows him to talk alternately with three local airports, and CFTR, CHFI-FM announcers (who cue him for the four traffic reports he broadcasts over each station, every hour).

"It's a service to our listeners," he said. "We find that it's much quicker and more efficient to be right over the scene, be able to warn, and sometimes figure why, traffic jams have happened. We're now realizing that because of our reports, drivers are becoming more educated. People do listen, and pay attention."

A former staff announcer at CFRB, Saskatchewan-born Luther (trained to fly after the war by the RCAF) heard in 1960 that several American stations were employing aircraft to report on traffic conditions. Luther submitted a memo to CFRB and on May 1, 1961, became Canada's first traffic pilot.

In 1968, he moved to CHFI-FM. and Rogers invested $10,000 to obtain his helicopter pilot's license.

Up to 1971 Luther was accompanied on his flights, but for the last five years, has been flying solo (excepting for the many guests - last count 10,000 - that have seen the airborne view).

By the end of May, Rogers will be employing a turbine (as opposed to piston) helicopter which will soar faster than 130 mph.

ALL POINTS BULLETIN

- APRIL 1, 1976 : BARRY FLATMAN, LARRY MOLLIN, PHIL SAVATH and FRED MOLLIN, alias HOMEMADE THEATRE, break and enter Toronto's MANTA SOUND and allegedly record what has now become their second single - DISCO TECH.
- APRIL 15 : After a suspicious delay, with no suitable alibi, A&M Records becomes party to the conspiracy and DISCO TECH is mastered at an underworld plant.
- APRIL 16 : The reaction is immediate. HOMEMADE THEATRE is apprehended and brought before Judge Hardley Lawless, who is aware of their previous record.
- HIS HONOR : "Aren't you boys content with 3 JUNO nominations for SANTA JAWS?"
- H.T. : "Well, your Honor, last year we made a Christmas record. Now we want to sink our teeth into something sacred - Disco!"
- H.H. : "You mean . . ."
- H.T. : "Yes, your Honor, DISCO TECH is a public service. An attempt to protect our young people from the further spread of the dread Disco - madness!"
- MAY 1, 1976 : HOMEMADE THEATRE is released on it's own recognizance and DISCO - TECH is released to all stations and booked for immediate airplay.

corded the next two April Wine albums, then Clench left, to be replaced by Steve Lang before Goin' Crazy was recorded.

It is surprising that, after all the changes and formidable competition, April Wine is still alive and growing with each new album. Perhaps the only problem that remains to be overcome is the band's lack of a promotable image. Bob Lemm has solved that for now and with a new international deal, April Wine should be getting a greater share of attention come next year's Juno's.
