FACTOR's Sym rebukes critics of funding policy

Charges have been circulating from Western sources alleging corruption and bias at the Foundation To Assist Canadian Talent On Record (FACTOR). Heather Sym, Executive Director of the private- and publicly-funded body, emphatically denies the charges, which she says are without substance.

The charges originate with Canadian Music Arts, a Vancouver organization which claimed, in a mailing circulated this summer, that FACTOR has an Eastern-Canadian bias and panders to established powers in the music industry. CMA claimed to have submitted a demo tape, allegedly the work of three Vancouver artists, which was rejected by FACTOR on artistic grounds. The tape was actually a dub of an album which had already been approved for a $50,000 FACTOR grant, but had, CMA claimed, bypassed the FACTOR jury system.

Sym says CMA has circulated three documents to date criticizing FACTOR. All were unsigned. "They've circulated documents about FACTOR, but they've never even directly approached us," she says. "There was a mailing address, but we've looked into it and it was one of those things where you pay a company to act as your mailing address."

She says the tape was rejected because it was discovered to be a fake. "The tape was being played in an evaluation panel, and the material sounded familiar...It was rejected because it was fraudulent."

Some of CMA's charges were repeated in an editorial in the August issue of the Alberta Recording Industry Association (ARIA) Newsletter. The article suggested FACTOR had "an alternate route away from the adjudication procedure to the loan rubber stamp office" for "privileged artists," and claimed that "no loans for Alberta were approved last year," while "nearly 70 percent of available monies went to Ontario."

In a strongly-worded letter sent to Gene Kosowan, editor of the ARIA Newsletter, Sym rebutted the charges. She provided figures revealing that, during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1990, Ontario accounted for 48.52 percent of applications to FACTOR and 55.90 percent of approvals. Alberta submitted 55 applications (3.85 percent) and received 9 awards (3.12 percent), while British Columbia submitted 356 applications (24.95 percent), of which 59 were approved (20.49 percent of the total). Sym says FACTOR does not have a breakdown of dollars allotted, but says "it seems to be a reasonable conclusion" that the proportions would be roughly the same.

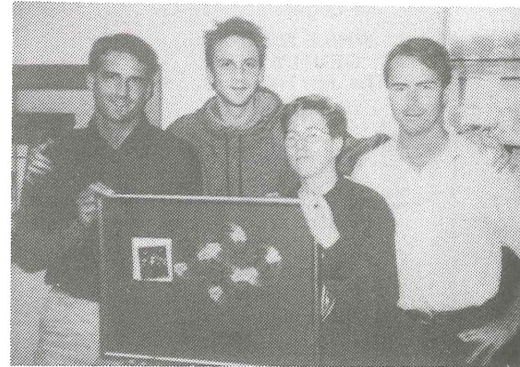

Sym also denies the existence of alternate funding routes at FACTOR. She explains that applications by artists are reviewed by a panel of "between three and five individuals drawn from the music and broadcasting industries," selected for their expertise in the particular field from a pool of between 300 and 400 evaluators. She says a project must receive a unanimous 'Yes' from two of three separate panels to be approved for funding.

Sym says FACTOR does have a Direct Board Approval program which dispenses funds to Canadian independent record companies without the approval of juries. But in these cases, she says, applicants must meet strict criteria. "They must have a national distribution deal in place, they must have released a certain amount of product in the last 24 months, they must have a certain number of staff." She notes that among the approximately 25 companies qualifying for such funding are Alberta's Stony Plain Records and Netzwerk Productions of Vancouver.

Some of the criticism stems from the fact that two of the eleven seats on the FACTOR Board are reserved for members of the Canadian Independent Record Producers Association (CIRPA), who in turn have a say in choosing the other music industry representatives on the Board. But Sym, in her letter, denies a conflict of interest is possible. "If any Board member is in any way related to, or personally interested in an application, he or she automatically declares a 'conflict'...and must retire from the meeting." She also points out that Board Resolutions require approval of 75 percent, or nine of eleven, of the Board members, "so it's impossible for anything to pass the Board of Directors that both sides (music industry and broadcasting) do not agree to." Eight Board members are based in Toronto, while two reside in the West and one in Quebec.

Sym says FACTOR encourages input from the music community on ways to improve FACTOR's functioning and to build a strong independent music sector, but she defends the organization. "There are some people in the West who are concerned about regionalism and are concerned they're not getting their fair share of the money, but, as the statistics show, there is a relationship between the number of submissions and the number of approvals. And to get approved, everything has to go through the same channels."

CBS/Dion U.S. assault may include Carson

David Platel says it "looks very good" that CBS recording artist Celine Dion will make an appearance on Johnny Carson's Tonight Show, September 21.

Platel, the label's International Marketing Head, says that Dion will be spending much of this month and next showcasing before American retailers. Speaking from Los Angeles, Platel said the U.S. assault comes in conjunction with the release of Dion's album, Unison, in "at least 18 European countries, Australia, New Zealand, Japan and Venezuela," the first inroad into South America.

"Rogers and Cowan, a major PR firm internationally, will be spearheading the press and publicity campaign," says Platel. "They've handled many major stars in the past, including Gloria Estefan," he adds.

While the American promo blitz continues, Dion will also be heading across Canada on her first nationwide tour. "In between retail appearances, she will be appearing at 2,000 to 3,000 seaters, beginning in Quebec and moving from the east coast to the west," says Platel. He adds that Epic U.S. is increasing stateside awareness for the 22-year old's eight-year career.

Attic Group moves to more spacious quarters

The Attic Music Group held an open house (Sept 18) to celebrate the move to a much larger location in Toronto's west end (102 Atlantic Avenue).

At the same time, Attic's Senior Vice President Sales and Marketing, Lindsay Gillespie, announced appointments and personnel changes within the group.

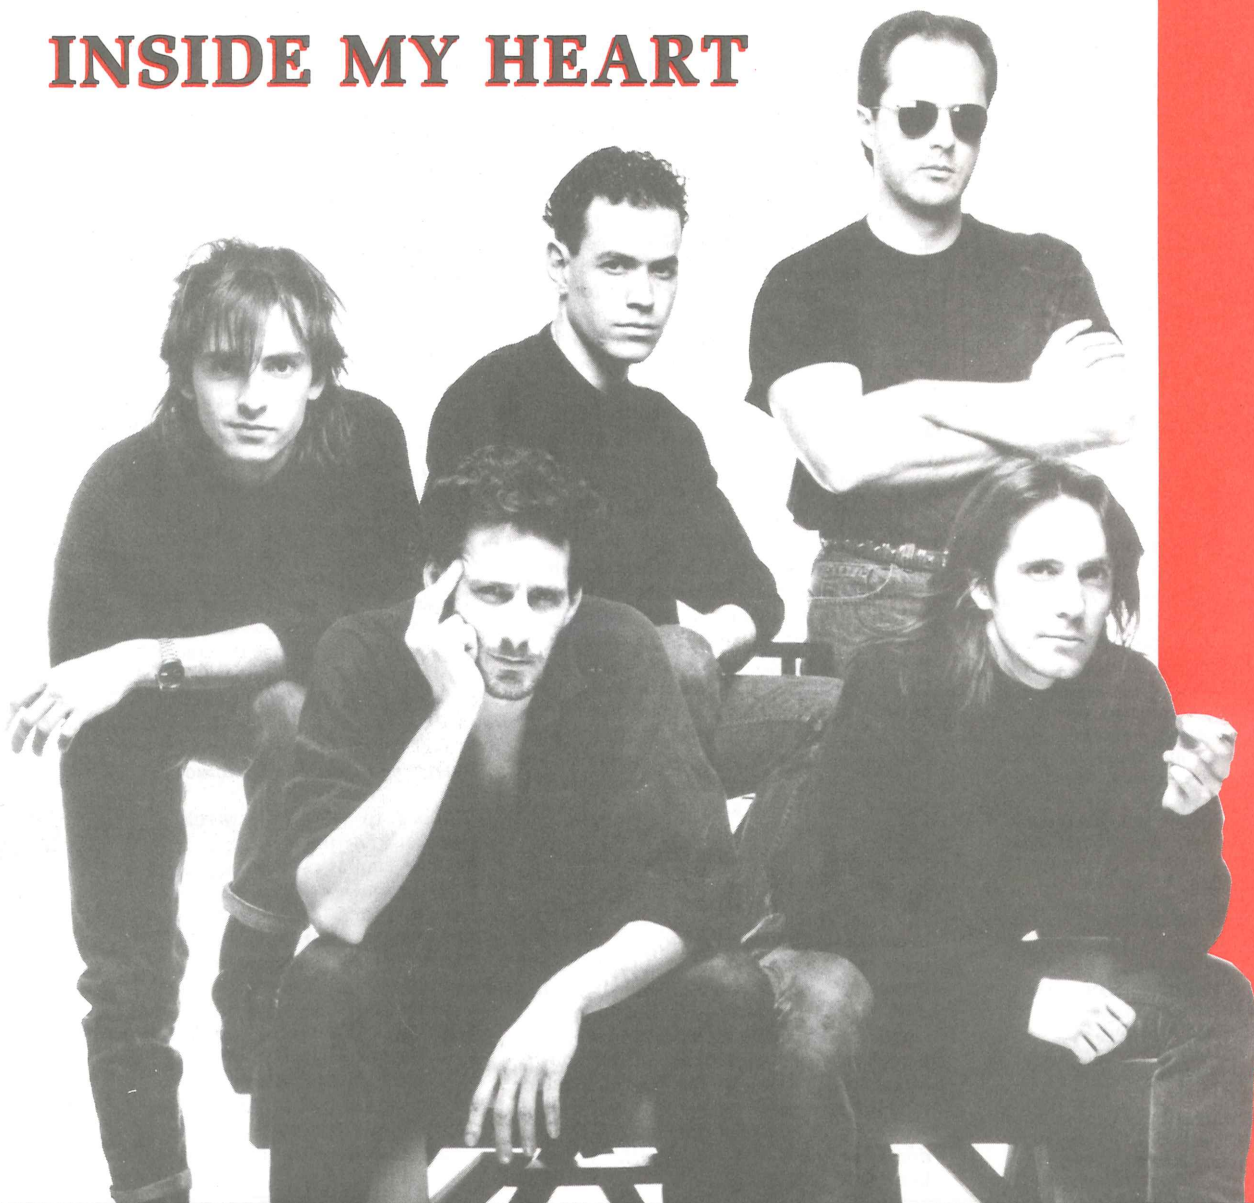

Sharon Cote, a Media Arts Writing graduate of Sheridan College (who has been Attic's receptionist-secretary for the past year) assumes the position of Marketing and Promotions Coordinator.

Richard Scott joins Attic as Production and Marketing Coordinator: responsible for manufacturing of both finished product and all marketing related materials. He was previously with Shorewood Packaging.

Marcia Deacon, a graduate of the Radio Broadcasting Program at Humber College and most recently with CFNY-FM, has been appointed receptionist-secretary for the Attic Group.

THE PLEASURE AND THE PAIN

WALT SAYS

Paul Anka has turned Yankee . . . ! I recall a few years ago, when I questioned the Canadian citizenship of Paul Anka in one of my columns. Well, I heard from right, left and centre, his lawyers, his father and his label people. They even sent me a copy of his U.S. Green Card. But they were very nice, I've got to admit. The last time I talked to him, which was several years ago, he admitted to me that having the MAPL logo on his label copy was important. But that was a long time ago . . . and maybe it's not that important for him to have a hit anymore. (EC: I wouldn't be too sure about that!)

A winner for CTV. The Canadian Country Music Awards were a major victory for the CTV television network. They programmed it on the right day . . . after the right audience grabber, promoted it well, and produced another winner. Perhaps they could give CBC lighting a lesson in shooting the audience. There they were . . . real people with skin tones, smiling and enjoying themselves. The show was great and every second was pure entertainment, with the exception of those

Nashville promotional cameos. They were unnecessary and dragged down the show. The CTV people would be well advised to talk to the awards people and convince them the Canadian industry can stand on its own, and that goes for the hosting job as well. I'll bet Anne Murray would agree to the job next year . . . it will be in her backyard. By the way, I can't think of two better choices for the Hall of Honour Awards than Gordie Tapp and Ron Sparling. (EC: I liked the part about the size 13 brassiere . . . !)

Politics is a very costly game!! A terse message to PS and DF! Maybe you don't know what I do . . . but this is a trade paper to the Canadian music industry. We have a mandate to treat everyone equally and we report news and comment on the industry. Along the way, we have done some original and inventive things. A number of people no doubt benefit abundantly from those things and the industry as a whole is better for much of what we have done. In very few cases is the industry worse off or hurt by our activities, accomplishments or criticism. On the other hand, perhaps what you did was an executive decision and you are speaking on behalf of your directors . . . in which case you have really succeeded in embarrassing me! (EC: A press release was couriered out to the press that wasn't there. How TASTELESS and "how juvenile!")

Just for the record . . . ! Bruce Cockburn was named a Member of the Order of Canada in 1983. Gordon Lightfoot got the nod as an Officer in 1972, as did Oscar Peterson in 1972, and Oscar was named a Companion in 1984; and then there was Anne Murray, who not only was named an Officer of the Order of Canada in 1977, but a Companion in 1984, and you don't go any higher. David Foster was also honoured as a Member. Now what am I getting at? None of the above are rockers . . . agreed? So Bryan Adams remains the first Canadian rock 'n' roll artist named as a Member of the Order of Canada. (EC: I'm glad that's over . . . !)

Unaccustomed as I am . . . ! There are those in the industry who want to get up and speak or get on camera whenever they can. I turn down 75 percent of the invitations for speaking, to be interviewed or be videotaped, mainly because I see so many of the industry egomaniacs panting at the very thought of jumping up and speaking, commenting, answering or just egotripping!!! (EC: You don't even have to name them!!!) We ALL know who they are.

Who owns what?? Who owns who?? I'm not one to bring up . . . but a name keeps cropping up and someone said recently that this bird is the silent owner or the backer of a project that he doesn't want his name associated with. Pretty sneak . . . right? (EC: After years of experience . . . he's getting good at sneakiness!!)

You never know who's watching . . . ! Not too long ago, Tom Waits saw a commercial for Dentyne chewing gum on Canadian television. He apparently felt that the commercial featured what was described as "a near-perfect" imitation of his "unique" singing voice and vocal styling. Well, as he had a long-standing policy of not doing commercials, he was annoyed so he asked his lawyers to write an immediate cease and desist letter. A couple of months ago, he was reportedly awarded $2.5 million dollars in his action against Frito-Lay Inc. for "imitating his voice in a radio commercial." (EC: Chew your face off . . . !)

Rewriting history . . . ! If nothing else, I'm very happy about the fact that over the past 26 plus years, RPM has documented the history of Cancon (EC: Spelled correctly!!) in this country and it will be difficult for those in our business who want to rewrite history. We're going to continue to make history in this business . . . as accurate as possible! (EC: Ever notice how few corrections we have to make in RPM . . . ?) That's RIGHT!!

Just a little bit of fluff . . . ! Did you know that we, as consumers spent over $381 billion on goods and services in 1989 (EC: $381 billion . . . ?) Of that amount, $36 billion was charged to credit cards issued by major banks, not including the Sears, Canadian Tire and Pizza Pasta cardholders, so you can tack on another couple of billion. Now, here's the kicker . . . only half the consumers pay off their credit card balances in full each month. (EC: It's the high priced CDs that's to blame . . . !)

Put a beeper on your speaker . . . ! I just heard that a very busy, busy body was asked to speak at a very important gathering. The day he was supposed to speak, he was called and given a reminder . . . and he was still on. However, the time came . . . and it went, and he didn't show up. The excuse was that he took a nap . . . and didn't wake up! But that's just another burning bridge behind him. Watch for more. (EC: I heard a couple of interesting ones from Edmonton . . . !)

CHARTS

by Tim Evans

Many more to come! With all kinds of big name acts set to release albums in the near future, get set for some impressive debuts. This was the first week for it with 2 albums debuting in the top 50. Roger Waters' The Wall Live In Berlin leads the way, entering at No. 38. George Michael's Listen Without Prejudice Vol. 1 is right behind at No. 44.

New number one Wilson Phillips becomes the third act this year to have both the No. 1 song and the No. 1 album at the same time. Release Me edges up to the top this week, but don't expect it to last very long there. Elsie Xynos, MD of The Hog in Toronto, was the first to report Jon Bon Jovi's Blaze Of Glory No. 1 on their hitlist. Since then, many others have followed and it appears it will take over the top spot next week.

How's your memory? Paula Abdul's Forever Your Girl drops off the Album chart after 80 weeks. That leaves Alannah Myles' self-titled album as the longest lasting album on the chart at 74 weeks. How many other albums can you name that have been on the chart for one year or longer? There are 5 others and none are in the top 50.

The old new hits . . . The Righteous Brothers' Unchained Melody re-enters the chart this week at No. 64. That's almost 25 years to the week since it disappeared from what was then The RPM Play Sheet (week of Aug. 23 1965)! Do You Love Me and Twist And Shout were both top 20 hits recently after being used prominently in movies and the film Stand By Me made Ben E. King's song of the same name a number one hit in Dec. 1986.

Not only that . . .! Apart from Unchained Melody blasting onto the chart once again, the movie soundtrack where it's found, Ghost, is also enjoying tremendous success. It has this week's biggest jump on the Album chart, climbing 28 spots to No. 37. The soundtrack is distributed by Denon, but Polygram is quick to capitalize on the Righteous Brothers' resurgence by re-releasing their Greatest Hits album. It enters this week at No. 58.

This could be the right time. Lisa Stansfield's unique sound is becoming accepted a little quicker with each release. Her first release, All Around The World, was at No. 49 in its 4th week. You Can't Deny It was at No. 41 in its 4th week. Her third release, This Is The Right Time, enters its 4th week on the chart at No. 35.

Alias has top add . . . After warming people up with Haunted Heart, Alias releases a powerful rock ballad that seems destined for big things. It was the top add in the country and debuts at No. 49. That just edged out Breathe's Say A Prayer entering at No. 52.

Albums with stamina! The five remaining albums that have been on the chart for one year or longer are: Janet Jackson's Rhythm Nation, Aerosmith's Pump, Don Henley's The End Of The Innocence, Bonnie Raitt's Nick Of Time, and Motley Crue's Dr. Feelgood.

COVER STORY by Jill Lawless

Five Guys Named Moe's Scottish success story

The history of rock'n'roll teems with stories of young hopefuls leaving home and heading to the far-off city to make it big. But moving from Ottawa to Glasgow, Scotland for the big break? That's a different story.

It is, however, the trajectory of a rising band called Five Guys Named Moe. The group has just released its self-titled debut album on BMG in Canada, the result of a deal with RCA Records in the U.K.

While studying at the University of Ottawa, band members Jonathan Evans, Meg Lunney and Tom McKay were seized with the desire to travel and play music. So they headed for Britain in December 1987, and naturally gravitated to London.

"When we first arrived in Britain, we lived in London for a month, working in a pub," recalls vocalist and guitarist Evans. "The musicians we spoke to all said that London was the place to be, the musical centre of Britain. But we hadn't done anything musically, because we didn't have a drummer at the time, and we eventually all got fired, on New Year's Day. So, on someone's recommendation, we decided to head up to Glasgow." Despite its grim industrial image, the Scottish city is noted for its vibrant artistic and musical scene.

Once they got to Glasgow, things began to fall into place rather quickly for Five Guys Named Moe. Through an ad at the university, they recruited drummer Graeme Murray, which enabled them at last to play real gigs. "The first gig we played we were picked up by a management company," explains Evans. "They gave us money to record demos, which we eventually turned into an independent E.P." The E.P., Fairvan, attracted the attention of RCA, which signed the band in the summer of 1988, only six months after they arrived in the U.K.

Whether it is their whimsical pop music or the novelty of three displaced Canadians in Scotland, the band has found favour with the notoriously vicious British music press. It may also have something to do with the band members' ability to spin a yarn. The record company's biographical material on the band boasts of the influence on the group's music of their small-town roots in the Ottawa Valley community of Waba (population 217). "That's a story we made up for the British press," admits Evans "People over there don't know much about Canada. They think it's Mounties and Eskimos. After a while you get tired of hearing that. So we just started saying the same things back, and from that came Waba, which is actually a town. We chose it because it's half way between Renfrew and Ottawa, and I'm from Ottawa and Meg's from Renfrew." He does think there is a Canadian influence in the band's music, though, particularly its country tinge.

As with many young bands, Five Guys Named Moe did not find recording their first album to be entirely smooth sailing. "That was the most stressed-out I've ever been in my life," admits Evans. Fortunately, the band did have the aid of veteran producer Donal Lunny, a former member of seminal Celtic rock group Moving Hearts. "When we met Donal, we knew within five minutes that this was the guy we wanted to produce the album," says Evans. "He's a kind of folk legend, except no one knows who the hell he is...He's worked with people we really like, like Kate Bush, Elvis Costello, The Waterboys and The Pogues, and he's a great musician as well. It was an obvious choice for us."

Five Guys Named Moe aren't afraid to be iconoclastic, from their name, taken from a Louis Jordan song ("I don't actually like the name much," admits Evans. "It sounds a bit like a bunch of firefighters who play a blues gig every second Tuesday."), to their refusal to single out one lead singer. "We like to share the singing," Evans says. "One of our favourite aspects of pop music is vocal harmony, from the Beatles and the Everly Brothers all the way along."

Doing things differently has paid off for Five Guys Named Moe, who will soon begin an extensive tour of Britain and Europe. But they have at least one remaining ambition: to return to Canada. "We all get really homesick for Canada," admits Evans. "If I had my choice, I'd definitely live in Canada. We're signed to a British company, so we're kind of stuck there, at least for a little while. But we try to get home as often as possible...and we're trying to work on getting back permanently."

ALBUMS

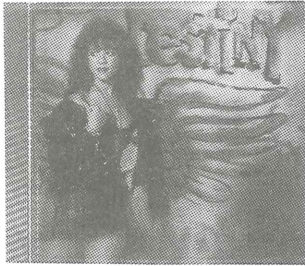

LOS LOBOS - Rock
The Neighborhood
Slash/Warner Bros - CD-26131-P

Los Lobos have followed up La Pistola y El Corazon, their acclaimed exploration of traditional Mexican music, with The Neighborhood, a rich and rewarding record. Aided by talented guests, including Levon Helm, John Hiatt, Jerry Marotta and Jim Keltner, the band serves up an album of rock as raucous, varied and strangely beautiful as the East Los Angeles neighborhood it celebrates. Each song has its own flavouring, from the Mexican huapango of Be Still to the blues of I Walk Alone and I Can't Understand to the R&B of Georgia Slop. All the members of Los Lobos are talented multi-instrumentalists, and they play with a joy and conviction that are passed on to the listener. Highly recommended. (CD reviewed) - JL more pronounced. Feed This Fire, the first radio single released, has already bulleted up adult contemporary and country charts across Canada. Also key are A Little Short Of Love, You Will and Wrong End Of The Rainbow, but keep your ear to New Way Out, which could be a sleeper. Great packaging. Should be a front-rack priority. (CD reviewed) - WG

SONYA PAPP - Dance/Pop
Destiny
Artiste Records - ART-4-105

The title of this Edmonton teen's album may be slightly prophetic. Of the nine tracks, two (Fire Of Love, Show Me A Sign) are solo writing credits, while Heart To Heart is a collaborative effort. These songs, especially the latter, contain the more musically valuable moments on the album; so Papp's own destiny may eventually lie in songwriting as well as singing. While distinctively North American in sound, many of the songs contain decidedly European flavours - perhaps a result of her Montreal label and management team. But though she's going after a market dominated by Americans, one must hope that the 'boy-toy' image Papp's been given eventually takes second place to her promising talent. (cassette reviewed) - PS

SUICIDAL TENDENCIES - Rock
Lights...Camera...Revolution
Epic - BEK-45389-H

Lights...Camera...Revolution provides more evidence of the huge musical debt today's speed metal thrashers owe to the likes of Motorhead, but, judged on its own merits, the album is a solid effort which will please fans of the genre. Suicidal Tendencies are old hands, and they combine their guitar onslaught with solid, at times even humorous, lyrics (you have to admire lines like "You wouldn't know what crazy was if Charles Manson was eating fruit loops on your front porch"). The vocals are mainly of the scream and growl variety, but occasional harmonies provide a pleasant change, and the musicianship is solid throughout. Lights... has enough surprising moments to keep it from lapsing into numbing monotony. (CD reviewed) - JL

DURAN DURAN - Pop/Rock
Liberty
Capitol - C2-94292-F

If it wasn't for Simon Le Bon's distinctive vocals, half the time you wouldn't know that this was a Duran Duran album. The styles shift throughout, from ballads to funk to rock to dance to funk to alternative to... yet the first single, Violence Of Summer (Love's Taking Over), My Antarctica and First Impression hark back to the times when Durannies were awash with exciting, beautiful melodies from the fab five. But the remaining three originals have grown up, and continue to try to expand their musical horizons and shake off the image of the past. The first part is evident; the second a bit harder to do. But while Liberty isn't as good as 1986's Notorious, it is, probably, their second-best effort since the new Duran emerged the same year. Produced by Chris Kimsey. (CD reviewed) - PS

PHRANC - Folk
Folksinger
Island - ISLC-1288-J

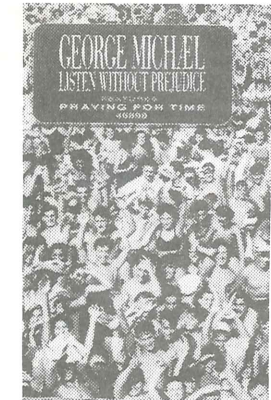

The title says it all. Phranc is a folksinger of the old school; she writes, simple, acoustic-guitar-based songs with very little musical embellishment, and lyrics which deal with the prosaic details of everyday life. This being the nineties, the topics range from Female Mudwrestling to the Ballad Of The Dumb Hairdresser. Folksinger is notable for Phranc's pleasant and patient distillation of her folk influences (the album includes a faithful rendering of Dylan's Lonesome Death Of Hattie Carroll), and a playful sense of humour, as in the song Everywhere I Go (I Hear The Go Go's). (cassette reviewed) - JL

QUEENSRYCHE - Hard Rock
Empire
Capitol - E4-92806-F

Though they'll probably be tagged as metal, Queensryche is more of a rocking ensemble that packs personal and political messages in their music. The enjoyable thing about the lyrics, and the added quasi-radio snippets, is that the political offerings are not meant to chastise those who aren't politically correct. The message is one based on the facts of what's happening in our world - such as how government spending is allocated to various facets of society. The music has sometimes soft and pretty moments, and a strong melodic element is obvious throughout the album. But the music never interferes with, or overshadows, the convictions they're trying to share. (cassette reviewed) - PS

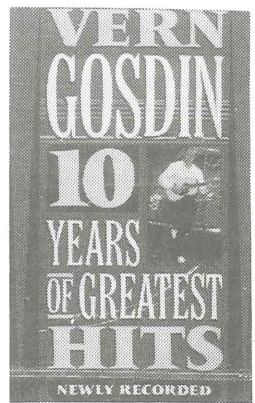

GEORGE MICHAEL - Pop
Listen Without Prejudice Vol. 1
Columbia - CT-46898-H

George Michael's first release in three years is his most introspective work to date. Produced, arranged and written by Michael, it's a genuine and pleasant surprise. Songs like the single, Praying For Time, and Freedom '90 dwell sombrely on the state of the world and the nature of fame. Listen is a far cry from the pop abandon of Wham!, or even of Faith, but it's compelling nonetheless. Always a talented songwriter, Michael dips into musical styles from jazz to reggae to soul and comes up with something all his own. Highlights include Freedom '90 and a sensitive cover of Stevie Wonder's They Won't Go When I Go. (cassette reviewed) - JL

ANNE MURRAY - Pop/Country
You Will
Capitol - C2-94102-F

More than a little departure from what Anne Murray has been releasing. To say it's a little more subtle than her previous releases is perhaps an understatement. Murray has changed her direction, back to the simple things of musical communication. Here she displays her roots power, and that natural ability of creating a one-to-one intimacy with the listeners is even

VERN GOSDIN - Country
10 Years Of Greatest Hits
Columbia - CT-45409-H

Kind of unique, going into the studios and re-recording all the single tracks that were chart items over the past ten years. Included are his first big hit, I Can Tell By The Way You Dance, If You're Gonna Do Me Wrong (Do It Right), Slow Burnin' Memory, Til The End, Time Stood Still, Was It Just The Wine, and others. Some, of course, didn't do that well in Canada. Also includes his latest chart item, This Ain't My First Rodeo. It would be interesting to dig out his first recording of I Can Tell By The Way You Dance, and see how it compares to today's recording technology. One thing is for sure, that Gosdin vocal power hasn't cooled in ten years. Key is a reworked, previously unreleased single of Chisled In Stone. Produced by Bob Montgomery. (cassette reviewed) - WG

COUNTRY

Michelle Wright continues to climb the RPM Country 100 with New Kind Of Love, her Arista debut, which moves into the No. 5 berth this week. Arista lost the single in the U.S. after a few weeks on the U.S. trades; which paved the way for her follow-up; Woman's Intuition, written by her producers Rick Giles and Steve Bogard. Canadian programmer support, however, has been constant and with her big win at this year's CCMA awards show (Sept. 8), she continues her roll. Also moving up the chart is Prairie Oyster with their RCA/BMG single, I Don't Hurt Anymore, at No. 6 this week. Again, programmer action has been very good, and they too were winners at the CCMA awards. Alabama has been a fast mover over the last six weeks of charting with their RCA/BMG outing of Jukebox In My Mind, which tops the chart this week. Also a fast mover was Garth Brooks, with his Capitol single,

CCMA awards show a production bonanza

This year's Canadian Country Music Association (CCMA) awards show was another feather in the cap of Ken Gibson, a producer/director who knows how to make country interesting television.

The show was televised live by the CTV Network (Sept 8) from the Jubilee Auditorium in Edmonton. It's obvious that Canada's country music star system is in place, as the creme de la creme of Cancon country moved quickly and very professionally to present, accept and perform for a live audience that displayed unanimity in their respect for the industry they support and belong to.

From an awards standpoint, it seemed as if everyone who deserved to win, did so. It was also reassuring to see the emergence of the new wave of country - Michelle Wright, George Fox, Prairie Oyster and Patricia Conroy - whose names are now etched on the Friends In Low Places, in at No. 10 this week after only five weeks of charting. If you were looking for the Merle Haggard single, When It Rains It Pours, to chart, forget it. Haggard is not distributed in Canada. Those stations charting the single were serviced through an American mailing, which is quite often very confusing here in Canada.

Willie P. Bennett is off to the U.K. and a six week tour of Europe. The tour was set up by Joanne Smale through a Canada Council touring grant. At the invitation of the Canadian High Commission in London, Willie will be playing Broadgate Park. He will also play Le Cafe de Piaf in London, in a presentation by the British Academy of Songwriters. Also included is a date in Caen, France. Bennett hasn't had a single on the market for a year or more. His current album, The Lucky Ones, was released two years ago on the Duke Street label. He has been busy writing, however, and co-wrote, with Russell de Carle, this year's CCMA minds of not only the public but the star makers.

It was also evident that with the success of national recognition came a confidence rarely seen before; not only with the country awards, but with the Juno Awards. These winners accepted their prizes with much humility, dignity and professionalism.

Wright had just enough nervousness to create a warm, energized feeling toward her audience. Fox, never at a loss for words, thanked retailers, which many seem to forget. And Prairie Oyster took the time to say "Hi, and get well soon," to Ron Dann, a highly respected giant in the session/recording business who is very ill.

The introductions for this year's Hall of Honour inductees were also very professionally carried out. Gordie Tapp was introduced by his longtime friend Tommy Hunter, followed by an appearance by Cousin Clem (Tapp) that was the highlight of the evening. CCMA President Paul Mascioli was very generous in his praise of Ron Sparling, manager of Family Brown and a tireless and dedicated worker who has spent the better part of his life promoting the cause of Canadian country. Both Sparling and Tapp were given standing ovations, but only Tapp was allowed an on-camera acceptance of the honour.

Single of the Year, Goodbye, So Long, Hello by Prairie Oyster.

Debbie Drummond is looking good with her debut single on the ATI label, Every Little Thing. The single was produced in Nashville by Gilles Godard.

Roger Bourque re-records Newfie Girl, an album that was released in the seventies. Roger hasn't done anything, recordwise, for several years, but he has kept his voice in shape playing weekend gigs at his home in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, where he is a successful businessman. While on a recent trip to Toronto, he met with Chef Adams, a well-known singer, songwriter and producer, who suggested he record an album. They called Roy Penney and a few studio musicians, and the result was a re-recording of his Newfie Girl single, which is also the title of the new cassette, on the old Condor label. Newfie Girl, which enjoyed 17 weeks on Newfoundland charts a few years ago, also reached No. 17 on the RPM chart. The single was written by Bill Sweeney of St. John's. The album is distributed by Jack Boswell's Heritage Music of Scarborough, Ontario. (See New Albums).

New Promopak from RDR has several country tracks, including Lindsay Thomas Morgan's Free, Workin' Harder At Tryin' Harder by Mark C. Maxted, Rodeo Star by Rick Wells, Tom Gallant's Angel Of Mercy, Debbie Fleming's Back Of The Car, Love Triangle by Denam & Lace, 7 Days A Week by G.P. COUNTRY continued from page 10
 Will There's A Way. Maxted, Morgan, Hopson and Denam & Lace are already looking good with playlist action.

ATI's Scoot Irwin is confident of breaking Michael Dee's latest single, Where The Sun Don't Shine. The track is from Dee's Steal Of The Night album, available as both a CD and cassette.

Hoyt Axton, off the recording scene for a short bit, makes a stab at a return with Mountain Right, the same song that Michael Dee recently had on release. Too bad Dee didn't release the single in the U.S. The Axton release is on the Nashville-based DPI label. There's no Cancon however. The song was written by the team of Jeff Tweel and Michael Garvin.

Step down . . . ! If you have to lose your No. 1 position, you might as well lose it to yourself. The New Kids' long-form Step By Step, chart topper for its existence here, has finally been beaten down. But the video to do it was the New Kids' Hangin' Tough, which had previously been in second place seven different times.

We three are top . . . ! Step By Step and Hangin' Tough aren't the only New Kids' videos to move on the chart this week. Hangin' Tough, Live has moved to third spot, giving the Bostonians a clean sweep of gold, silver and bronze. The group's three long-forms last held the top three positions Aug. 18, and have accomplished the feat six times (including this week).

We two are tenth . . . The new entry on the long-form chart comes via BMG's video catalogue. We Two Are One Too is an hour-long look at the Eurythmics and contains selections from their last album, We Two Are One. It is only the second BMG long-form to make the chart; the other was Jeff Healey's See The Light on June 16 and 30.

R.E.M. not asleep . . . ! While fans await a new album from R.E.M., WEA is releasing an 85-minute, 16-song long-form of the group. The video was shot on tour last year, and the long-form is comprised of synchronized concert footage. Never ones to complicate an issue, the Athens, Georgia band have simply named the long-form Tourfilm.

Spuds surprise . . . ! A&A's has a surprising long-form music video on its top-sellers list this week - Anne Of Green Gables. The classic P.E.I. tale, distributed by Video 1, is considered a musical, and therefore a music video. Lucy Maud Montgomery's Canadian masterpiece is a refreshing, if not strange, change.
